

Being a column in which the publisher just "blows off the steam."

By Willard Jones

MRS. JACK DOTY, the former Elsie Weinke who lived here for several years, recently sent in her renewal for subscription to The Herald. She had this to say in her letter:

"Enclosed is check for renewal of The Herald. I have been away from Hamlin for 13 years, but still look forward with much interest to reading our Home Town Paper every week.

"I see in your last issue that you are having dust storms. Very much to the contrary, we have had 85 inches of snow here at Denver this winter, so we don't have dust storm hereabouts."

TED BEDFORD, a former preacher in this section of West Texas, who several years ago became intrigued by the enormous missionary opportunities among the Navajo Indians of Arizona, was a guest last week-end in the Johnny Hines home north-east of Hamlin.

Bedford comes back every once in awhile and loads up a truck with discarded clothes and scores of other household items and farming implements, gathered from his friends in the territory, and takes them back to the Indians as gifts from their white friends in Texas.

"These gifts open the door to relations with the Indians that help our missionary effort tremendously," declared Rev. Bedford, who declares that most of Red Men are poor and unresourceful. He recalled that several months ago he visited an Indian village where a skinny goat was being slaughtered. An Indian woman was catching the blood from the animal, and expressed the hope that plenty of blood would come as the meat was scarce and tough. When asked by Bedford what she would do with the blood, the Indian woman replied that she would make a blood pudding.

LEROY (SATCHEL) PAIGE of baseball fame, who admits 50 but probably is nearer 60, has some health rules all his own, which more people of the country could adopt to advantage these days.

Knowing the basic facts about nutrition sanitation, home accident prevention and mental hygiene are good. But finally in thinking about health problems, there is a narrow margin between morbid fear and reasonable precaution. Paige's rules briefly include:

Avoid fried meats which angry up the blood.

If your stomach disputes, you "passify" it with cool thoughts.

Keep the juices flowing by jangling about gently when you move.

Go light on vices, especially the social ramble. It ain't restful.

Avoid running at all times.

Never look back. Something might be gaining on you!

ANOTHER BATCH of pert paragraphs that have accumulated in our copy basket in recent weeks includes . . .

A CAR SCREECHED to a halt at an intersection and barely missed an old lady. We waited for the tongue lashing that we thought the woman was going to give the driver.

Instead of hawling him out, she just smiled sweetly and pointed to a pair of baby shoes dangling from his rear-view mirror.

"Young man," she asked, "why don't you put your shoes back on?"

BACKING THEM UP—Mrs. J. K. Finch, mother of two Adline School children, is shown signing a petition asking the removal of the Adline School board and the election of a new board. Lending his back for support is Robert H. Hicks, a petition circulator. The Adline Schools, near Houston, closed when the district failed to meet its payroll.

No Clues Linked to Oil Tools Burglary

No definite leads to the perpetrators of a $4,000 burglary last Thursday night in North Hamlin had been ascertained at mid-week, according to county and city officials who have been working on the case.

Burglars apparently unlocked the oil field warehouse of Hughes

Tool Company on North Central Avenue, loaded up with $4,337.52 worth of drill bits and locked up the place again before leaving, declared Sheriff Dave Reeves of Anson Friday after making preliminary investigation of the first burglary in the Hughes concern.

Reeves said that investigation indicated that sometime after last Thursday night's rain the intruders used a key or picked the warehouse lock, then loaded up the valuable rock drilling bits. The lock was fastened when the burglary was discovered Friday morning, according to Duane Stalleup, manager of the Hughes concern.

Reeves said some good muddy tire tracks on the floor of the warehouse, where they loaded up the tools, were picked up.

Hamlin Police Chief E. B. Watson assisted Reeves in the burglary investigation.

Oil Production for May Increased by 12-Day Allowable

Land owners and royalty holders of the Hamlin territory were cheered some by announcement from Austin last Friday that the May state-wide oil producing allowable will be increased 106,906 barrels daily. The increase was ordered by the Texas Railroad Commission meeting at Austin last Thursday.

"Texas crude stocks were reduced 3,499,999 barrels since March 7," Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson said. "The increase will just about replace stocks we drew down heavily in March and April."

Next months production pattern was set at 12 days with the allowable at 3,152,765 barrels daily. Texas has had an 11 or 12-day pattern since last August.

Major companies were evenly split on asking for 10 and 12 days. Three requested a continuation of the present 11 days.

Thompson said: "If we have erred, we've always erred on the side of liberality in allowables. We know we can't be perfect. If anything, we have over-supplied and we cannot be justly accused of contributing to the scarcity of crude."

The commissioner's comment was in answer to reports that the group sought to make crude scarce to bring about a boost in the price.

FFA Judging Teams Go to Area Contests Saturday at Tech

About a dozen representatives of the vocational agriculture department of Hamlin High School are due to be in Lubbock Saturday for the annual district, area and tri-area judging contests at Texas Technological College, advises T. C. Blankinship, VA instructor and sponsor for the Future Farmers of America judging teams.

Three judging teams are to be entered in livestock, poultry and dairy cattle contests, Blankinship said. Three boys are on each team, and elimination try-outs to select the team members was underway at the school this week.

Probably 1,500 FFA boys from a territory from El Paso on the west to Eastland on the east and north to the Panhandle will be in attendance at the contests, Blankinship declared.

Courtesy costs nothing, yet it buys things that are priceless.

Plan Expected to Be Ready Within Three Weeks

Forty-nine Hamlin merchants have been signed up to participate in a trade extension project called Appreciation Day, it was announced over the week-end by members of the retail trade committee of the Hamlin Board of Community Development.

The plan was promoted by C. M. Minshall of Weatherford, who said the operation would be ready for starting within about three weeks.

The plan is based on the issuance of percentage coupons with purchases made with participating merchants bearing the purchaser's name and address. The issuing merchant punches a percentage slot on the coupon based on the amount of purchase. The coupons will be placed in a drum and on each Appreciation Day a coupon will be drawn from the drum. The coupon will call for a gift of the percentage punch of the "pot" of cash to be posted by the participating merchants. Winner must be present to win.

The show, which will feature cut flowers, potted plants and flower arrangements, is free to everyone. It has been staged two previous years by members of the Hamlin Garden Club. This year's show is expected to surpass the other two shows in number of entries, elaborateness of displays and interest on the part of growers and attendants, declare leaders of the sponsoring club group.

"Despite the fact that the past winter and early spring have been unusually dry, the exhibits that have so far been checked give promise of a beautiful show," declares Mrs. LaFoy Patterson, general chairman of arrangements for the show.

No admission charge will be made for the flower show, theme for which is "Garden of Enchantment." The public is cordially invited to attend.

Doors for the show will be open from 3:00 to 7:00 o'clock p. m. Saturday.

Besides the two ministers, other guests at the Tuesday luncheon included Rev. Ed Robb and Dr. William A. Pattillo.

State Legislature Getting Down into Short Rows of Session, Thurman Says

At this stage of the fifty-sixth Legislature, there are only four weeks and two days left on the present 120-day session, reminds State Representative Leon Thurman of Anson in his weekly news letter from Austin to The Herald. He continues . . .

Most of the bills which are passed from here on will have to be either local and uncontested bills or some bill with a low number.

Last week the House passed the appropriation bill which authorized the expenditure of $2,450,000 for the next biennium. This is the largest appropriation bill ever passed by any session of the Legislature. The Senate will pass their own version of this appropriation bill, then a conference committee from the Senate and the House will re-write the entire bill.

This week starts the consideration of tax bills. There appears on the calendar House Bill 32, which is called the governor's "escheat bill." This bill is designed to take dormant accounts from banks, insurance companies and oil companies. We feel that the banks should not be included in this bill and will vote to exclude them. If they are not excluded, we will vote against the entire bill.

We have received criticism from one or two people from our district for not voting to bring a bill out of the committee. This vote was intended to put a gag rule on a certain group of people and we do not feel that is the way the people of Texas would like to have it; therefore, we voted against the so-called "gag" rule.

We have passed House Bill 522 which extends the quail season in Dickens County to conform with the general law on the quail season. We hope to get House Bill 159 passed this week, which has to do with eliminating title insurance on the right-of-way program. It also facilitates and is designed to provide prompt payment of the state's part of the right-of-way program to the county.

Some of the governor's program will probably be passed this week and some of it will be killed for this session. We do not know whether there will be any called sessions for this Legislature or not. It will all depend on whether we can pass a tax bill within the next four weeks and if such a tax bill is acceptable to the Senate and the governor. If the tax bill is passed, more than likely the session will end at the regular time and there will be no called session.

Jerry B. Hodges Takes Basic Airman Course At Lackland Base

Airman Jerry B. Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Hodges of Hamlin, has recently completed his initial course of Air Force basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, according to a release to The Herald from that big base. He has been selected to attend the technical school for aircraft and missile maintenance at the Amarillo Air Force Base.

Airman Hodges is a graduate of Hamlin High School.

Basic airmen at Lackland are selected for specialized training at technical schools on the basis of their interests and aptitudes. They are reassigned to the school after four weeks of basic, and are given additional military basic training along with the technical subjects.

Deadline Nears for Certain Owners of Wheat Allotments

May 1 of the year is an important deadline for certain owners of wheat farms which have been allotted by an agency having the right of eminent domain, declares R. G. Rowell, chairman of the Jones County Agricultural and Conservation Committee.

The May 1 deadline applies to those owners who were so displaced from wheat allotment farms during the period January 1, 1954, to August 28, 1958.

The chairman explains that such an owner may file a notice of his displacement and a request that the allotment be pooled and used to the extent necessary to establish an "equitable" allotment for other land owned or purchased by him.

Tenants on such land are not eligible to file such requests, and in order that the transferred wheat allotment may be effective for the 1960 wheat crop on the other farm, however, the owner must file the required notices in the local ASC county office not later than May 1.

Rowell points out that only a few days remain before this May 1 deadline for requesting such action. He urges, therefore, that wheat farm owners who believe they are eligible to request pooling and transfer of "displaced" wheat allotments get in touch with the county office immediately if they want the allotments to be effective on the new land in 1960.

SHOULD TEXAS HAVE A FLEXIBLE RATE LAW?

Just as predictions of higher rates on auto liability are being heard in the land, a bill has been introduced in the Texas Legislature which its proponents say will save Texans about $34,000,000 a year in that field. It would permit competition among companies writing insurance on automobiles, bonds, burglary, general liability, glass, boilers and machinery. It would permit companies to offer merit rating plans.

Texas is said to be the only state with a single or uniform rate set by the Board of Insurance. Senator Jarrod Secrest of Temple, one of the sponsors of the flexible rate bill, says the present Texas plan is "antiquated and unfair to the insurance buying public," penalizing careful drivers who do not have accidents by making them pay the higher rates caused by reckless drivers who have accidents.

Other proponents say the same thing. But there are opponents who assert that states with flexible rate systems have higher rates than Texas. This seems incredible. It is hard to imagine how a law which gives motorists a distinct incentive to drive carefully can cause higher rates than a law without that incentive. However, this is a question to which the correct answer can be obtained simply by writing the insurance authorities of other states for the information.

The flexible rate bill has been kicked around in the Texas Legislature for years without getting passed. All informed, fair-minded people will agree that the existing liability law is inequitable, and that if the Secrest-Cox bill will do what its sponsors claim, it would be a big improvement. So why not get the evidence from other states that have flexible or merit rating systems, and settle the issue?

Here We Go Again

Six months ago recession was much in the news. Now inflation is coming to the forefront again. Business is picking up, the public debt is headed for a steep rise, and prices, wages and other costs are headed for another upward spiral. The sensation is somewhat like the "here we go again" feeling of a roller coaster ride, except there is no ticket man to help us off at the end. Inflation has no end except bitterness, disillusionment and strife. These are the inevitable consequences of the depreciating value of money.

Inflation is especially painful to the nation's retailers, who must pass its effects on to consumers in the form of higher prices. Some facts about the American retail distribution system should be kept in mind. Retailing, particularly as conducted by the chain stores, operates on a high volume, minimum price principle. This principle applies in all lines.

Modern shopping centers, which are the location sites for nationally known chain outlets reflect the ultimate in distribution efficiency. Insofar as it is humanly possible, retailers working in a free market and competing stringently with each other, will give consumers the most for their money at its current value. That is all that can be done.

No amount of rules and regulations can change the trend of inflation nor the sacrifices it will exact if continued. It can only be stopped by curbs on government spending, on labor monopolies that force wage hikes for less work, and on price raises that inevitably follow tax and labor costs. It can't be stopped at the counter of your local merchant.

Nuggets of Thought

Fidelity finds its reward and its strength in exalted purpose.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Faithfulness and truth are the most sacred excellences and endowments of the human mind.—Cicero.

To God, thy country and thy friend be true, then thou'lt ne'er be false to anyone.—Henry Vaughan.

Fidelity is seven-tenths of business success.—James Parton.

Fidelity is the sister of justice.—Horace.

The biggest reward for a thing well done is to have done it.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The reward of one duty is the power to fulfill another.—George Eliot.

Goodness never fails to receive its reward, for goodness makes life a blessing.—Mary Baker Eddy.

For blessings ever wait on virtuous deeds, and though a late, a sure reward succeeds.—William Congreve.

There are no crown wearers in heaven who were not cross bearers here below.—C. H. Spurgeon.

Avoidable Federal Waste

In the light of growing military and other national security demands, the nation cannot put off much longer drastic action to eliminate non-essential government spending.

One example is the expensive duplication of effort in the Defense Department—where thousands of military and civilian employees are performing the same duties at a waste of $110,000,000 a year. This department also maintains separate supply systems to keep the various branches of the armed forces stocked with basic items such as food, clothing and fuel. It has long been contended that just one agency, staffed by civilians with know-how, could do the job and save vast sums for the taxpayers.

There is another sphere of government activity that can be described as non-essential—the field which competes with taxpaying, commercial businesses. Public power is a prime example, but there are hundreds of small service activities in which Uncle Sam engages and for which the taxpayers foot the bills. It's high time Congress adopted a sterner attitude and stopped this frightful waste.

Editorial of the Week

DECADE OF NATO PROVES ITS WORTH

It was Benjamin Franklin who said, in appealing for the union of the original colonies, "We must all hang together or assuredly we will hang separately." The same historic principle is contained in the admonition of President Eisenhower in support of NATO, "The defenders of freedom must stand united."

NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) has now reached its tenth anniversary. What, we may properly ask, has it accomplished? It has grown from a "paper" army to a mighty alliance of 15 free nations possessing unified military forces strong enough to enforce its basic injunction, "An attack upon any one of us is an attack upon all."

Before NATO Communist Russia seized country after country and enslaved 90,000,000 people. Since the alliance, not an inch of territory has been lost to red aggression in the Atlantic area. NATO has also made possible a spreading of the high cost of defense.

Conceived as a means to reduce the chances of war, NATO has more than proved its worth. Its severest test may come with the Berlin crisis. Yet, if any one thing can deter the Soviets from war-like actions it is the existence of this union of free peoples, with the formidable retaliatory power they have now amassed through pooling military, economic and political resources.

NATO is a perfect example of the effectiveness of "hanging together." May it grow as a virile force and shield to the free world.—Grit Magazine.

HHS Seniors at Work on Industry Advantage Essays

Hamlin High School seniors are busy on their essay writing contest being sponsored locally by the Hamlin Board of Community Development, reports Mrs. Charles Scott, head of the English department of Hamlin High School.

The essays, entitled "What My Town Can Do to Have More Industry," are being used to point up the advantages the community can offer industries interested in locating in this area. Regionally the project is being sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The Hamlin BCD has posted cash prizes of $50 for winners in the local essay writing contest, which will be concluded by April 25. A board of judges will pick the winners and award prizes of $25 for first place, $15 for second and $10 for third. The winning essay then will go to the regional contest. Regional winner will be given a $250 college scholarship in the school of his choice by the WTC.

Fifty members of the senior class are working on the project. They are making their own research and tabulating their own statistics. Business and professional men are being consulted for ideas, it is pointed out.

READY TO BEGIN.

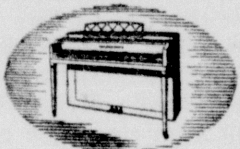

The reveller was protesting loudly as he was dragged into the suburban police station.

"It's an outrage!" he shouted when he had calmed sufficiently to speak at all. "What's the meaning of this? Why was I arrested?"

"You were brought in for drinking," the sergeant said.

The man relaxed at once. "Ah, well," he said, "that's different. When do we start?"

Snyder Man Heads Westex Hereford Association Group

Scott Casey, associated with Winston Brothers, Snyder Hereford breeders, last Tuesday afternoon was elected president of the West Texas Hereford Association at an annual meeting of officers and directors held at the Abilene Chamber of Commerce offices.

Casey succeeds Jay Pumphrey of Old Glory, who has headed the association for the last two years.

Other officers elected included Claude McInnis of Byrds and Earl Guitier of Abilene, vice presidents; and B. R. Blankenship of Abilene, reelected secretary-treasurer.

Directors named include Guitier, J. Paul Turner of Sweetwater, Heston McBride of Blanket, Olin Amerson of Hamlin, Elton Dudley of Comanche and Gene Whitehead of Abilene.

In other plans Tuesday the group made plans for the Hereford show at the West Texas Fair, September 12 to 19, when Horned and Polled Herefords will compete for $8,000 in cash, one of the only two Texas registers of merit qualifying shows in the state to be held in the fall.

Back Door Troubles May Be as Vital as Foreign Affairs, Says Omar Burleson

While United States foreign policy is concerned with happenings in our front door, our back door may be very much ajar, declares Congressman Omar Burleson in his weekly news letter to The Herald from Washington. His release continues:

Quite naturally, our first concern in the weeks ahead is what happens in Berlin. The interest on the revolt in Tibet is high because there is some hope the situation may develop into a major revolt against the Communist Chinese.

In our back door is the Caribbean and Latin America. In this area there is a foment inspired by Fidel Castro of Cuba and Betancourt of Venezuela. Munos Marin of Puerto Rico is seemingly supporting the Castro forces against the Dominican Republic's Trujillo.

There is little doubt that Communist influence has a lot of fuel for the fire. Moscow would be presumed to have its eye principally on Berlin and Tibet, but we can also be sure their interest is high in the Caribbean.

The target of the so-called Castro forces is principally Trujillo, whose fall would be a great psychological victory and could start the downfall of several Latin American countries. Nicaragua is seemingly high on the list.

The United States is continuously in the middle of the powerful cross-currents working right at our back door. The interest of American oil companies in Venezuela constitutes one of the dilemmas. Pressures from the oil companies to get a better deal in their take from Venezuela is a major consideration of our policies.

The big naval base at Guantanamo Bay on the southeastern tip of Cuba is another major consideration.

It does not seem that either of these has any sympathy from the Fidel Castro forces.

Castro's bitter utterances at the United States is, of course, encouraging to the Communists. Nothing could serve their purpose better than for an outright major conflict to develop in our back door. If the revolutionaries are successful in marshalling sizeable forces, the entire Caribbean as well as a considerable part of South America could become embroiled in a conflict. Unless ways and means are found to stop these developments, whatever side the United States takes will be wrong. The Communists are well aware that any conflict will help them and hurt us. Their theme is "peace in the Caribbean," but of course, it means exactly the opposite.

So while we are watching those places far removed from us which could possibly touch off a major war, a riot could occur in our own back yard which might be about as serious as anything which has ever occurred in the Western Hemisphere.

Ideas for Spring Outfit Offered in Free Bulletin Available from Home Agent

Are you planning your spring outfit? If so, you might get some good ideas by reading a new free bulletin, B-911, "Accessories Around the Clock," written by the extension clothing specialists of Texas A. & M. College.

This leaflet gives information on such things as selecting hats for specific occasions. For example, the bulletin gives helpful pointers on selecting hats that are appropriate for business, for church and for informal parties, according to Mary Y. Newberry, county home demonstration agent.

Spring hats are designed to wear level or tipped back on the head. Some styles have a decided tilt, worn at provocative angles. Big brimmed, coiled or swaggar shaped hats are designed to conceal the face from the nose up. Veilings and chiffon drapes cover the rest of the face on some creations. However, a woman doesn't have to select a down-draft brim hat but will be in style with the little brimmed cloche, the straight brimmed sailor or the upturned brimmed breton.

There are high-crowned hats, with or without brims, that add height to a woman's figure. The so-called little suit hat is bigger than it used to be, and it is not just a suit hat any more. It may be shrouded around to go with almost any costume in the wardrobe except the most elegant evening dresses. Of particular significance are the hats geared to the coiffure. These have open crowns, a profit tilt, or are very small creations that ride high on the head, exposing the hairdo.

Straws highlight the material scene with great emphasis on smooth ones. Tones of blue are particularly strong. A high fashion shade is pernod, a green-yellow. Also on the scene are lavender to cherry shades, near white, black or navy. The color plan is completed with shades of beige to mocha.

The best test in selecting a hat is the mirror. If the hat looks right for you and your costume it's right. If it makes you look pretty and feminine and catches and holds the glance of others, it has the top interest that fashion is playing up this season.

The high hat or deep crowned hat, whichever description the feminine shopper prefers, may be a cloche, a breton or a sailor. It may be a patent banded, straw, a beehive or organdy, or a bouquet of flowers.

Deep crowned chapeaux needn't be small, however, but may be flower laden picture hats. Or the high effect may come from the slant of the wide brim rather than the extra inches on the crown.

Bulletin, "Accessories Around the Clock," is available in the agent's office at Anson. Why not call or write and ask for a copy?

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin. — Whichever way the ball bounces, Texans can look forward to a hefty increase in state taxes for 1960-61.

House of Representatives passed a general appropriations bill calling for spending of $332,000,000 from general revenue. Senators took a more economical approach, began their work with a bill calling for $300,000,000 less than the House measure.

Even so, the Senate proposal would put spending some $21,000,000 above the present level and require an estimated $117,000,000 in new tax money.

House bill includes longevity pay raises for long-time state employees and increases in welfare checks to the aged, blind and dependent, all added during floor debate. House also accepted committee recommendations for boosts in the appropriations for higher education, state hospitals and the prison system.

Gasoline Tax Viewed.—Governor Price Daniel says he's ready to support a one-cent hike in the state gasoline tax if it will be used to improve public schools, raise teacher salaries.

Neither the House nor Senate appropriations bill included public school teacher raises. Lawmakers seemed to think this, if it were to be done, should be handled in a separate bill.

Texas still would have a lower gasoline tax than other states, said Daniel, even after the one-cent raise. He said he felt sure service station operators would "go along" with it if it were for the purpose of better schools.

Opponents say that, with practically everyone having to use a car these days, the gasoline levy is about as "general as a sales tax can get."

Health Chief Resigns.—Recent target of lawmakers is the State Health Department, where Commissioner Henry A. Holle stepped out of his $16,000-a-year post under the glare of legislative disapproval.

Dr. Holle said he felt the department would be better off with another commissioner who could get more support in the way of legislative appropriations.

Meanwhile, both House and Senate launched inquiries into health department spending practices.

Flexible Rating Off.—State regulation of Texas auto insurance rates apparently will continue for at least another two years.

Senate insurance committee refused to approve a flexible rating plan, sent it to the sub-committee "graveyard."

Backers of the bill, mostly large out-of-state companies, claimed it would save Texas auto owners millions. Careful drivers would be rewarded with lower insurance, they said.

A. & M. officials were pleased, but Bryan-Brazos County citizens, for the most part, took a dim view of the enrollment restriction. Their feelings were reflected in Bryan Senator William T. ... prediction that "if the A. & M. board continues its present policies, the time will come when A. & M. will have a classroom for each student enrolled there."

There is fear that when Arlington College, an A. & M. branch which admits women, advances to senior college status, it may eclipse the parent institution.

Government Wheat Production Estimates For Year Lowered

Department of Agriculture Friday forecast a dramatic decline in Texas wheat production for this year as compared with 1958.

The department forecast a crop of 47,157,000 bushels as Texas' wheat outlook. This compares with 73,040,000 last year. The 10-year average for the state is 43,687,000 bushels.

Information for the forecasts was gathered before recent rains in some parts of the state. How much influence this moisture will have could not be determined.

Milk Producers Paid $5.40 for March Flow
Minimum uniform price to be paid for 4.0 per cent milk received by Central West Texas handlers from producers during March will be $5.40 per 100, according to an announcement by Byford W. Bain, market administrator. Several producers are in the area south of Hamlin. During March, 1959 there were 521 producers delivering milk to the Central West Texas market who delivered an average of 486,694 pounds of milk per day. Average value of daily producer deliveries per producer was $50.43 during March compared to $42.97 a year earlier.

Taxation Bill Continues to Highlight Action of Legislature, Says Thurman

This begins the twelfth week of the fifty-sixth Legislature, and things have really gotten down to the serious matter of taxation and appropriations, writes State Representative Leon Thurman of Anson, in his weekly news letter to The Herald from Austin. The release continues: Today begins the first debate on House Bill 216 which is the general appropriations bill.

This bill increases the expenditures of the state government for the next two years some $42,000,000. There are certain sections of this bill which are not desirable, but they may be passed in order to get the other desirable parts of the bill.

As we have stated before, House Bill 3 has caused a lot of pros and cons on its merits and disadvantages. I feel, however, this bill will be reported back to the committee as a whole with some amendments. There have already been several amendments offered but none have been accepted. It is possible that some agreement between the utility companies and the state can be worked out so that this bill will be acceptable to all.

We noted in The Abilene Reporter-News that we were against the REA bill, and feel sure that many of our people believe what the read in the newspapers. The record will show, however, that we voted to table the motion which would have cut off debate on this bill. By cutting off the debate on this bill some people would have been denied the right to be heard, and we believe our government is based on the constitution and the privilege of anyone to be heard on any matter. Therefore we could not and will not vote to deny anyone this right.

The governor has harped on sales taxes and used this as a political football. We feel sure that the people would have nothing to fear as for a sales tax passing is concerned, even if the governor had said nothing about it. It appears that he has used this in trying to get the sympathy of the people in order that he could run for reelection. We believe the people are entitled to the truth, and true statements should be made and not some statement just for a man's own political ambitions.

We ask that the people of Texas have faith in their Legislature. We also ask that the governor get off the idea of a sales tax and give us some type of leadership and suggest a tax program which would take care of the needs of the government. We feel the people should stand behind their legislators, and we assure them their interests are being well looked after, and any bills which are passed are passed only after much study, debate and deliberation.

Class Instruction on Income Tax Returns Offered in Schools

The chances of Junior getting a better education than Dad on how to prepare an income tax return are pretty good, declares Tax Man Sam in a release to The Herald.

In the Dallas district 771 high schools and colleges have more than 2,600 teachers instructing some 75,000 students. Material prepared by Internal Revenue Service is excellent material and can be used by any teacher without too much trouble. However, the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants is cooperating with the IRS and the school to provide a local CPA wherever possible to hold a question and answer period with the teachers and students at the end of the course.

Already too large and fast increasing is the number of things that are on the borderline between necessities and luxuries.

Hamlin Schools Host County Teachers At Annual Banquet Monday Evening

Wayne Forrest of Hawley was elected president of the Jones County unit of the Texas State Teachers Association for next year when teachers of the county met Monday evening in the Hamlin Primary School cafeteria. This was the final meeting of the year for the group.

Mrs. C. Weldon Griggs and her art students had charge of decorations, which depicted old fashioned ideas in unique table silhouettes mounted on styrofoam, wall decorations, programs and a picturesque farm mural.

First vice president of the local organization, Wayne Forrest, acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Charles Scott of Hamlin assisted in arranging the program.

A Hamlin teacher group composed of Mmes. Fred Smith, D. W.

Stell, Joe Norton and Gene Moore, sang a parody on "Sixteen Tons" which was a satirical arrangement about the teacher with 42 pupils. Mrs. Willard Maberry, public music teacher at Hamlin, accompanied the group at the piano and Jimmy Shivers provided drum tones.

A group from Hamlin High School Band, under the direction of Mac Fullerton, presented a number of German folk songs. To make the arrangements more impressive the students were dressed in appropriate native costumes, and called themselves "The Sourkraut Seven." Students composing the group were Bryan Shelburne, Thelma Carol McClung, Barbara and Barry Cheshire, Bob Johnson, Peggy Dodd and Jimmy Shivers.

In the absence of the speaker, Dr. Travis White of Midwestern University at Wichita Falls, a male quartet from Abilene Christian College entertained the teachers with "Night and Day," "Girl of My Dreams," parody on "Working on the Railroad—or School Books," "Begin the Beguine," "The Halls of Ivy," "Umpacka," a round of melodies of American and Irish folk songs, "I Love Paris," and an encore of a spiritual song, "Deep River." Members of the ACC quartet were Duane Ginn, Fred Cowley, Kenneth Rose and Nick Grivas.

Mrs. Joe Breed, president of the county unit, gave praise and recognition to the various committees for their cooperation through the past year. She presented Wayne Pistole of Noodle a past president's pin in appreciation of his diligent work as last year's president of Jones County teachers.

Everett Beaver, county superintendent of schools and chairman of the local legislative committee, gave a brief resume of the progress of the Hale-Aiken bills in this session of the Legislature.

Allouez Blackburn of Hawley, chairman of the social committee, awarded the attendance plaque to Hamlin for having the highest percentage of teachers present at the banquet.

C. E. Womack, superintendent at Hawley, gave the report of the nominating committee. Officers elected for the ensuing year are: Wayne Forrest of Hawley, president; Gus Young of Hamlin, first vice president; Mrs. Dave Reves of Anson, second vice president; Mrs. Patsy Cole of Stamford, secretary; Mrs. Doris Prewitt of Avoca, treasurer; Gerald Jennings of Noodle and Fred Shelton of Lueders, executive committee.

Next meeting of the Jones County group will be next fall.

Farm Safety Week To Help Promote Safety Practices

"Safety makes sense!" This will be the theme of the sixteenth annual National Farm Safety Week to be observed July 19-25.

The special week, proclaimed by President Eisenhower, is sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Purpose of the observance, says the council, is to promote safety and accident prevention on American farms—in the field, in the home and on the highway.

Leading farm organizations are endorsing the seven-day safety campaign.

Each year more than 12,000 farm residents are killed in accidents and another million are injured. There are more accidental deaths in farming than any other major American industry.

The National Safety Council said it is urging everyone with an interest in the welfare of the farm residents to participate in this year's National Farm Safety week.

"Safety is something you can't think about just one week out of the year," the council said. "But if everyone concentrates on it during Farm Safety Week—and then practices safety the year 'round, there's bound to be a drop in accidents," it added.

Spraying Soon Is Vital to Control of Pecan Caseborers

Pecan nut caseborers will take a heavy toll of your pecan crop unless you follow a timely spray program, according to word this week from County Agent Kirby Clayton.

There is only one week in which spraying for this insect is very effective, says Clayton, and that is usually the last week in April or the first week in May.

Here's how, Clayton says, to go about making a decision on the best time to spray: When the small white eggs first appear on the blossom end of the small nuts it is time to spray. For control, Clayton recommends a solution of three pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder or three pounds of 25 per cent wettable DDT powder in 100 gallons of water. Spray the foliage thoroughly. For double security, Clayton recommends another application one week later. The nut caseborer eggs hatch in three to five days, and any eggs which are not hatched during the first spray will be caught in the next application.

If you are bothered with rosette, add two pounds of zinc sulfate to the above recommended formula.

Winners Named in Correct Posture Contest Tuesday

Rebecca Ferguson, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, and Janice Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Richardson, Hamlin High School girls, were chosen to represent Hamlin in the Correct Posture contest conducted Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium.

They will represent this area in district contests to be held at the Wooten Hotel on May 2, at which winners will be awarded prizes of $25, $15 and $10. Winners there will go to the state contests to name Miss Correct Posture at Brownsville.

More than 20 entries had been posted for the illness and conflicts narrowed the field to 12 participants Tuesday evening. The girls were judged on walking, standing and sitting posture, position of head and shoulders, facial beauty and body proportion. Judges were Dr. C. L. McInturf of Abilene, Mrs. E. M. Wilson, Mrs. Willard Jones, C. V. Herbert and Wesley Neal.

Nell Walden and Dora Palmer also were named for contestants along with the winners to have their backs x-rayed for final determination of local winners.

Explorers Group of Senior Boy Scouts Seeks Trip Award for Park Project

Senior Boy Scouts of Hamlin, members of Explorer Post 43, are inaugurating a community betterment project that is destined to win for them not only acclaim of citizens of the community but a cash award from Sears-Roebuck Foundation that would provide funds for a major trip for the young men and their leaders of visit historical and interesting points of the state, it is announced by Weldon Johnson, Explorer counselor.

The project, which would improve and beautify the area around the swimming pool at the Hamlin City Park, is scheduled to get underway within the next few weeks, it is stated.

Prospectus for the project has been presented to the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, and the following summary is taken from that prospectus:

First, we, the members of Explorer Post 43 of Hamlin, Texas, would like to give you a small background and the dire need of our proposed activity project.

We live in a small community of 4,000 which had no swimming pool until 1955. Our City Council had advised various groups that it was not feasible to vote a bond for the construction of a swimming pool as our city water supply was critical, and all bond money would be needed to secure a city water supply.

Each of the 15 civic organizations of our community was asked to appoint one member to compose a committee to study plans for a swimming pool for Hamlin. This was done and the committee came up with a plan to build a pool by public donations. The ground work was set and started into motion in January, 1955. The name of the organization was to be called the Hamlin Foundation. A charter was drawn up, approved by the state of Texas and also approved by the Internal Revenue Service of the federal government thereby making it legal for income tax deductions to this foundation.

A city block of land was donated by a citizen adjacent to the City Park. Each and every business firm and family in our trade community has been asked to contribute and the signing of pledge cards. The first sign of money was in sight for the pool proper, the contract was let and construction was started. However there was no money for dressing rooms, equipment, storage rooms, wading pool, etc. These were erected and obtained by requesting materials from anyone who might have anything that could be used and still there remained a deficit of $3,000.

A note was arranged with our local bank and the directors of the foundation signed it for security. Finally in 1957, after several stage shows, chili suppers, etc. failed to bring in enough money, another fund drive was conducted to secure money to pay the note in full. All of this left no money for landscaping of the property, which still remains undone.

Explorer Post 43 of Hamlin proposes to level the land, plow the plot, plant grass on approximately 30,000 square feet; landscape, water and maintain until October 31, 1959; and erect a bleacher near the pool for spectators; for our activity project in cooperation with "The Big Push" program sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

We have ample resources at hand for our project. We also have ample consultants available and ready to assist on this project, and the boys of Post 43 have the desire and ability to complete this project. We admit we cannot do it without the help of the people of the community who did it before—and will do it again!

The entire roster of Post 43, 12 boys, their leaders and committeemen, will participate in the project.

We estimate that we will need $625 to complete the job as it should be done. However, this amount will be reduced by every means possible. We propose to secure financial backing from the Rotary Club, Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hamlin Board of Community Development, City Council and various individuals if necessary. The above mentioned clubs have indicated they will participate in any way they can.

We estimate a total of 1,150 man hours will be consumed in this project on the following basis: Eighty-three hours per week for April, May and June, and eight hours per week for July, August and September.

Aim of the project is to beautify and conserve the property of the Hamlin Foundation in order that the people of Hamlin will have a more beautiful swimming pool at a minimum of cost to the people of our community.

Members of the post feel our awards will be many and justified to complete our project for people of our community and our feelings of accomplishment will be our greatest award.

However, if any award money should be received we will use it to make an educational tour of the state of Texas, visiting Austin, College Station, Houston, Galveston, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Laredo, San Antonio and return. The group would visit various colleges and universities and medical schools to study the educational opportunities available at each in the fields of medicine, engineering, law, transportation, agriculture, government and any other fields in which a boy may be interested. On this trip we would also observe the different farming and ranching situations, such as irrigation, citrus and vegetable growing, rice and other crop production that is different from our own local type.

The group would visit manufacturing establishments, and note the various types of transportation involved in transportation of raw materials and the finished materials of our state. By this means some boy may find himself a life-time vocation.

Minimum Farm Wage Plan Would Hurt, Says Leader

Placing of agricultural workers under fair labor standard regulations which would establish an $1-an-hour minimum wage for farm and ranch laborers would be ruinous to Texas farmers and ranchers.

This was an opinion voiced at Washington last week by Fred Husbands of Abilene, executive vice president and general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Husbands' mission to the capital included inquiries into various proposals to place agricultural and ranch laborers under the fair labor standards.

James P. Mitchell, secretary of labor, has urged legislation to establish minimum wage standards in agriculture. Senator Pat McNamara of Michigan and Representative James Roosevelt of California have introduced companion bills to establish a $1-an-hour minimum rate plus some overtime pay on a graduated basis.

Their bills, supported by CIO-AFL of L. and complemented to others seeking a $1.25-an-hour minimum for labor generally. The present minimum is $1 an hour.

Cotton and wheat harvesting in West Texas would be imperiled by imposition of regulations on wages or on the number of hours worked daily, Husbands said.

Junior High Group Participating in Teens Book Plan

For the past several years the students of Hamlin Junior High School have been enjoying being members of the Teen-Age Book Club under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. Joe Lewis and Mrs. Ernest Jenkins, point out school officials.

The Teen-Age Book Club is a unique plan, similar to adult book clubs, which makes available to students a wide range of good books at low cost. Members may choose each month from 16 of the best pocket-size 25 and 35-cent books issued by leading publishers. There are no dues or membership fees. A member may order as few books as he wishes.

The Teen-Age Book Club selection committee, a board of five distinguished educators and librarians, chooses titles for their utility and appeal to teen-ages. To suit varied tastes, each month's selections include fiction, adventure, biography, sports, human science fiction, animal stories, mysteries, classics and other reading enjoyed by young people. Many of the selections are published by the Teen Age Book Club exclusively for its members and are not available through the usual retail outlets.

An attractive feature of the club is the free dividend plan. For every four books purchased, members may choose one book as free dividend from a special list of popular titles published at the end of each semester.

Draftees Warned of Penalties of Altering Registration Cards

Young men who change birth dates or selective service numbers on draft registration certificates are now subject to immediate induction into the Army as delinquents, The Herald is advised in a release from Austin.

President Eisenhower has authorized this by executive order revising the selection service regulations, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state selective service director, said Tuesday.

Young men in numerous instances have been changing birth dates and draft numbers on the card certificates they carry on their persons so as to indicate an age of 21 or more.

"They have done this," Colonel Schwartz said, "for the purpose of falsely representing that they are eligible to purchase beer or liquor, or to be admitted to places forbidden by law to persons under 21."

Colonel Schwartz said that possession of an altered registration certificate is a violation of the draft act, but it has been difficult to prosecute successfully these cases in the absence of intent to evade service or defraud.

Film on Cattle Grubs

At Pied Piper Feed Mill Tuesday Afternoon, April 28

As a public service to cattle raisers of the Hamlin territory, the Pied Piper Feed Mill has arranged for the showing next Tuesday afternoon of an interesting and informative motion picture that shows factual pictures and diagrams of the origin and life cycle of cattle grubs and screw worms in cattle. The showing, of course, is free, and we urge all cattle raisers to witness the film, which also suggests modern treatment methods. Bring your friends with you. The film will be shown as often as necessary for everyone to view it during the afternoon.

Let us tell you about CO-RAL Livestock Insecticide, the remarkably effective Spray Control . . .

A new and remarkably effective insecticide for the control of cattle grubs, screw-worms and other livestock insects is now available for use on beef cattle, horses, sheep, goats and swine. This revolutionary product is called "Co-Ral."

Tested extensively as Bayer 21-199 by federal, state and private research organizations for the past four years, Co-Ral has demonstrated an unprecedented effectiveness for the control of the most destructive insect pests of livestock.

Co-Ral assures healthier animals, better weight gains, higher grade beef and more profit per head.

Co-Ral is of particular interest to livestock men for insect control because: Co-Ral is applied as a spray. Its application requires minimum handling and labor.

Co-Ral kills cattle grubs inside the animal, but before they damage meat or hide. Only one or two sprayings a year are needed to give excellent grub control.

One application of Co-Ral controls screw-worms from 10 to 20 days—long enough for most wounds to heal completely.

Co-Ral is a complete livestock insect control. Co-Ral alone controls grubs, screw-worms, horn flies, lice and ticks.

RUSS TAMBLYN, playing the title role in "Tom Thumb," screen version in color of the famed Brothers Grimm fairy tale, is captured by villains Peter Sellers and Terry-Thomas. Screen magic has reduced Tamblin to the five-inch hero of the George Pal production for MGM, combining live action, animated cartoon characters, songs and dances. The fabulous picture is scheduled at the Ferguson Theater for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday showing.

4-H Club Dairy Cattle Judging Set April 29

All eligible Jones County 4-H Club members are urged to be present for this contest. The winning four members will represent Jones County at the district 4-H Club elimination contests at Wichita Falls Saturday, May 9.

The Herald has pencils of all kinds and degrees.

Huge Sets Needed For Filming Story Of Tom Thumb

Sets used for the filmization of the beloved Brothers Grimm fairy tale, "Tom Thumb," a George Pal production released by MGM, literally filled the studio sound stages from floor to roof.

The reason was not that there were too many sets for the part live action, part puppetoon picture with songs and dances, but that they were gigantic.

In order to make five-foot 10-inch Russ Tamblin, cast in the title role, look like 54-inch Tom Thumb, each set in which the young actor appeared had to be 12 times its normal size.

Thus, a drummer's hat on which Tamblin dances was 13 feet high and 40 feet in circumference at the top. This hat, plus a second worn by Alan Young, filled the drapery department at the studio to the extent that there was barely room to lay out a quilt, used as a coat, which also serves to emphasize the diminutiveness of Tom. The coat measured 20 feet in width and 35 in length and was sewn with two-inch length stitches to increase the oversize effect.

In the Plaster Shop, a cup one yard high, a vase seven feet tall, flooring in which the grain shows up like corrugated iron, and a horse's ear in which Tamblin could comfortably hide, took up all available space.

Other oversize sets, all of them entailing measurements 12 times normal, included a cottage doorway and window, a table top, a cot, a donkey's saddle, a tree stump, part of a road, a wedding cake, leaves and mushrooms, blade of grass six feet tall, a thimble, a cotton reel, a button, books, spinning tops, brushes and coins. And the ornate decorations for an oversize wedding cake alone kept three employees in the studio's clay modeling shop busy for two weeks.

All the elaborate settings make the film, scheduled Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Ferguson Theater, worth the attendance of scores of Hamlin area people.

Educational Film on Grub Control Slated

Hamlin area ranchers and farmers are invited to attend showings next Tuesday afternoon, April 28, at the Pied Piper Feed Mills in Hamlin of a 14-minute film on the control of cattle grubs, horn flies, lice and ticks, according to Lonnie Kidd, manager of the mill. The film, being brought here as a public service by the feed mill, shows the origin and life cycle of these pests that annually take a heavy toll from receipts of beef cattle and other livestock. The film suggests modern methods of control of these insects.

The film will be shown as often during the afternoon as needed by audiences as they appear, Kidd says.

History and Use of Money Studied by Eighth Graders

Eighth graders of Hamlin Junior High School have been studying the history and use of money in mathematics classes taught by Mrs. Everett Gibson.

Through studying how money applies to commercial enterprises and to the individual, the students have learned about the three types of business ownership, namely, sole proprietor, corporation and partnerships. They have gained an understanding that money is used as a medium of exchange, as a measure of value, as a means of storing value, and as a standard for deferred (future) payment.

A study has been made of common and preferred stock, of stock quotations in daily newspapers, and how to solve problems about dividends on stocks. The students also have learned terminology used on stock certificates, and how bonds are and are not like stocks.

Students have studied banking in order to learn how to compute interest, to see how promissory notes are used as a form of deferred payment, and to learn how banks earn money by exercising care in granting loans. The culminating activity of this unit is a trip through our local bank so that the students can see firsthand how banking is transacted.

Many of the understandings developed in this unit on money will play an important part in the future lives of the students. They will be in a better position to plan their own financial affairs because they understand the value of money and the fact that the financial well-being of each individual is dependent upon the mechanics of saving and borrowing.

Elizabeth Norton on Honor Roll at NTSC

Elizabeth A. Norton of Hamlin is one of 63 students named to the 3.0 honor roll at North Texas State College at Denton for the fall semester.

This is the highest achievement possible, representing a grade of A in all courses, Vice President A. M. Sampley said in making the announcement.

Miss Norton, a sophomore English major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Norton of 321 Northwest Avenue J.

Everett Gibson Tours In Texas Tech Band

Last week Everett K. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gibson of Hamlin, made a three-day tour of West Texas cities with the Texas Tech College Band.

Young Gibson, a freshman at Tech, plays a cornet in the band. The group visited Levelland, Andrews, Brownfield, Kermit, Monahans, Odessa and Midland, giving concerts for high school students and the public.
